ACS CAN Fight Back Express Bus Stop Comes to Hialeah!

Following the success of Mayor Julio Robaina's Polynesian Gala earlier this year and the Relay for Life fund raiser in April, the Mayor will once again partner with the American Cancer Society for the ACS CAN Fight Back Bus Tour! Mayor Robaina, other elected officials, cancer patients, survivors, caregivers and their families will participate in this worthy and noble cause on Wednesday, along with the American Cancer Society Cancer Action Network effort, highlighting the role of elected officials in the fight against cancer.

As part of a six-month, 48-state tour, the Fight Back Express bus will stop in Hialeah next week, carrying the message, "If one person can battle cancer, a nation can rise up and defeat it." The tour, sponsored by the American Cancer Society Cancer Action Network (ACS CAN), is highlighting the crucial role elected officials play in making cancer a national priority.

Cancer patients, survivors, caregivers and their families will hold a rally to welcome the ACS CAN Fight Back Express, a mobile action center, where visitors can share their story with their elected officials through the electronic Picture A Cure program and sign a petition to guarantee all Americans have access to quality health care.

When: Wednesday June 25, 2008, from 12:00 pm to 1:00 pm

Where: Wilde Park Community Center, 1701 West 53 Terr, Hialeah, FL
